

Donkey can buy platinum dentures Posted on Thu, Feb. 04, 2010 11:18 PM

How many of you would receive nearly 300 cards and a load of cash when people learned you were sick?

Aw, don't feel bad. You're not an ornery, smelly old donkey.

On Tuesday, The Kansas City Star published a story about Ebenezer, a 30-year-old beast of very little burden that is ailing from bad teeth and white line disease on his hooves.

Since then, get-well missives accompanied by more than $5,000 have arrived at Equine Health Solutions, a Raymore veterinary clinic.

Somebody sent a dollar. A man put $1,000 on his credit card.

Ebenezer, famous for being the friendly donkey by the road, arrived Thursday.

Friends can monitor his progress on the clinic's Facebook page.

| Donald Bradley, dbradley@kcstar.com